10. DEFINITIONS

1.-Definition of black and white photography (Monochrome)

A work in black and white, ranging from light grey (white) to very dark grey (black), is a monochrome work with different shades of grey. A black and white work turned entirely into a single colour will be considered a monochrome work and can be included in the black and white category; said work can be reproduced in black and white in the catalogue of a Salon under FIAP Patronage. On the other hand, a black and white work modified by a partial change or addition of a colour, becomes a work in colour (polychrome), and must be included in the colour category; such a work must be reproduced in colour in the catalogue of a Salon under FIAP Patronage.

2.-Travel Photography

A travel photo image expresses the characteristic features or culture of a country, as found naturally. There are no geographical limitations. Images of events or activities organized specifically for photography, or of subjects directed or contracted for photography are not appropriate.

Photos of people or objects must include features that provide information about the environment. Techniques such as adding, relocating, substituting or deleting any element of the original image, except for cropping, are not allowed. The only settings allowed are removal of digital dust or noise, restoration of the appearance of the original scene, and complete conversion to grayscale monochrome. Other leads, including infrared, are not allowed. Toned images are not allowed in this section. All allowed adjustments should appear natural.

3.-Definition of Nature Photography

Images entered in Nature sections meeting the Nature Photography Definition above can have landscapes, geologic formations, weather phenomena, and extant organisms as the primary subject matter. This includes images taken with the subjects in controlled conditions, such as zoos, game farms, botanical gardens, aquariums and any enclosure where the subjects are totally dependent on man for food.

Nature photography is restricted to the use of the photographic process to depict all branches of natural history, except anthropology and archaeology, in such a fashion that a well-informed person will be able to identify the subject material and certify its honest presentation. The storytelling value of a photograph must be weighed more than the pictorial quality while maintaining high technical quality. Human elements shall not be present, except where those human elements are integral parts of the nature story such as nature subjects, like barn owls or storks, adapted to an environment modified by humans, or where those human elements are in situations depicting natural forces, like hurricanes or tidal waves. Scientific bands, scientific tags or radio collars on wild animals are permissible. Photographs of human created hybrid plants, cultivated plants, feral animals, domestic animals, or mounted specimens are ineligible, as is any form of manipulation that alters the truth of the photographic statement.

No techniques that add, relocate, replace, or remove pictorial elements except by cropping are permitted. Techniques that enhance the presentation of the photograph without changing the nature story or the pictorial content, or without altering the content of the original scene, are permitted including HDR, focus stacking and dodging/burning. Techniques that remove elements added by the camera, such as dust spots, digital noise, and film scratches, are allowed. Stitched images are not permitted. All allowed adjustments must appear natural colour images can be converted to greyscale monochrome. Infrared images, either direct- captures or derivations, are not allowed.

Images used in Nature Photography competitions may be divided into two classes: Nature and Wildlife.

4. Definition of people photography

Images where people are the main protagonists. They can be portraits, street scenes, family, public or work environments, etc.

5.-Definition of creative and/or experimental photography

Photography that falsifies or recreates a reality. Complex processes of digital editing of an image or the combination of several are accepted. They can also be photographs taken with experimental techniques resulting in an unusual image. The contents and layers must be originals of the author. All images that do not have a photographic origin will be excluded.
